

Marina of Dorrnalis

Marina returns Hathaway Place, after leaving Rominkoy Hill in disgrace. Sensing her depression at the lack of correspondence between their niece and Rominkoy Hill, Tatiana and George attempt to break Marina of her solitude and take her to an auctioned dance hosted by Tatanas Charity League association. She is re-acquainted with Gallagher Wilson, who had once insulted her at Wilson Lodge. Strong emotions run their course as Marina feels herself a burden to her aunt and uncle because of their knowledge of what happened at Rominkoy Hill. Gallagher tries to amend his injury to Marina and a courtship begins. He keeps secrets from her that threaten the very fabric of their tentative relationship. Many experiences wait Marina as she enters the world of adulthood, and her new home, the palatial and imposing Dorrnalis. She meets Henrietta Steel, a housekeeper in charge of updating and modernizing the home. A return trip to Wilson Lodge has Marina and Gallagher witnessing the birth of Quellas second child, and Marina sees an old friend. Will Sahale understand that her feelings have changed? Will Gallagher understand the nature of Marina and Sahales relationship? Gallagher leaves for India to take care of pressing business matters. Months go by, and no correspondence. Frustrated, Marina makes the decision to journey to India, to find her husband and bring him back home.
